Shout Out to All Cycling Lovers Volunteer for the Carson Valley Leg of the Amgen Tour of California Friday, May 18, 2018

Carson Valley, Nev. (March 29, 2018) – Visit Carson Valley, formally the Carson Valley Visitors Authority, is calling out for volunteers to support the 2018 Amgen Tour of California men’s Stage 6 and the women’s Stage 2 race route making its way through Carson Valley Friday, May 18, 2018. Riders arrive via Highway 88, travelling along State Route 206 and then face the steep climb up State Route 207 Kingsbury Grade as they make their way to South Lake Tahoe, California.

“The quality and level of cycling expertise that will be riding through Carson Valley provides us with a unique opportunity to showcase to these riders the world class cycling routes in our area,” Jan Vandermade, executive director of Visit Carson Valley, said. “A critical part of our efforts will be to extend a wide-open community welcome to the cyclists. Big smiles and can-do attitudes will hopefully leave riders and spectators alike anxious to come back for more.”

Volunteers will be supporting the event for 3 to 4 hours from route control to directions, and every worthy step in between. Interested volunteers can call 775-782-8145 or email info@visitcarsonvalley.org.
